Implementing Your New System

Conversion Expertise

Omega's customer support starts with its unique 2-step process for converting your old system to Omega Legal[™]. This proven process results in no downtime for your firm and eliminates the need to run parallel systems.

Omega has successfully converted more than 62 different vendors' time & billing systems to Omega Legal at hundreds of law firms just like yours. All data-mapping, conversion and reconciliation is performed in-house by experienced Omega employees.

Project Management

Every Omega Legal[™] system is individually tailored for each client in order to best meet the firm's specific law practice needs and operational requirements. Omega assigns a highly skilled and experienced in-house Project Manager to personally guide you step-by-step through the entire process to ensure your complete satisfaction.

Client Training

Omega University provides a learning experience that is quite simply the best in the business. The live, instructor-led, interactive classes, delivered right to each user's desktop, are convenient, comprehensive and customized to each firm's specific operation. Over 50 different topics are available. Users attend specific classes that pertain to their own job function at just the right time during the implementation process—saving valuable time and ensuring that your staff is productive from day one. Online classes can be supplemented by on-site training as well.

Client Services

After installation of your new system, you can depend on Omega's experienced Client Services staff to handle any problems or questions you may have. When you call the Client Services department, you'll be quickly connected to a "live" person who can help you—not impersonal voice mail that may take 2-3 days for your call to be returned.

Custom Programming

Sometimes, even Omega's 180 standard reports, built-in custom report writers and robust system capabilities may not be enough to handle every law firm's unique needs. In these situations, Omega's experienced staff of in-house programmers can design a custom program or report that will meet your exact requirements.

"We evaluated several software products and concluded that the Omega product was the most versatile, integrated and user friendly option available."
