Omega is Nominated for ILTA[®]'s 2010 Innovative Vendor Award

SCOTTSDALE—July 30, 2010—Omega Legal Systems has been nominated for ILTA's 2010 Innovative Vendor Award for its submission of eCop[®], Omega's revolutionary new software product that automates the billing review process and helps law firms comply with client billing rules. Omega was one of five companies to make the Award's Short List.

"We were overwhelmed and extremely pleased by the volume of quality applications we received for the ILTA 2010 Innovative Vendor Award category," announced Peggy Wechsler, Program Director at ILTA.

Omega's entry was deemed to be one of the most innovative of the many applicants by ILTA's panel of judges. The vendors that were nominated for ILTA's Short List can be viewed on the ILTA Distinguished Peer Awards website.

"It is an honor for Omega to receive this nomination. eCop demonstrates Omega's commitment to creating innovative products that make our clients' jobs easier," said Don Gall, President and Founder of Omega Legal Systems, Inc. "Throughout the development of eCop, our goal was to create a product that would transform law firm billing processes. This was accomplished by really listening to our clients and developing eCop with their needs in mind."

During the next few weeks, a panel of judges, composed of ILTA members, volunteer leadership and ILTA staff, will conduct interviews with the Short List nominees in order to determine the winner. The final winner will be announced at the ILTA Award Nominees Reception in Las Vegas on August 26th.

About the ILTA 2010 Innovative Vendor Award:

The ILTA Innovative Vendor Award is one of four award categories in ILTA's Distinguished Peer Awards, an annual recognition program in its inaugural year. This award is intended to recognize outstanding achievement by vendor organizations that have shown the greatest foresight in development of an innovative technology or process of services used to implement technology in the legal environment. Three Innovation Vendor Awards will be given out, with the judges' top selection of the three being recognized as the 2010 Innovative Vendor of the Year.
