Omega Named Finalist in Law Technology News 2006 Awards

Readers Vote Omega One of Top 3 Time & Billing Vendors

PHOENIX—January 24, 2006—Omega, a provider of integrated financial and practice management software, has been voted by readers of Law Technology News magazine as one of the top three time & billing software vendors for law firms with 50 or more attorneys, Omega announced today. The winner will be announced January 30 at the 3rd annual LTN Technology Awards dinner at the LegalTech New York trade show.

“This recognition further validates the reputation Omega Legal continues to earn in the marketplace as we expand into larger law firms nationwide,” said Don Gall, president and CEO, Omega.

“The role of technology continues to grow in virtually every area of the practice and business of law, from the court room to the back office. The winners of our third annual awards program, selected by readers who use and rely on these technology products and services, are leading the industry. We congratulate them on this significant achievement,” said Kevin Vermeulen, publisher of Law Technology News[®].

Omega Legal is an integrated financial and practice management software system that enables instant access to a firm's most up-to-the-minute financial, statistical and historical information from a single server. Based on the powerful and scalable InterSystems Caché™ post-relational database, there are no performance issues, even when generating month-end bills or detailed financial reports.

About the Law Technology News Company/Product Awards

In 2005, the editors of Law Technology News[®] asked the publication's more than 40,000 subscribers to select products and vendors that represented outstanding achievement in legal technology in 11 award categories. Ballots were solicited from LTN's subscriber audience of law firm partners and managing partners, legal administrators, MIS/IT directors and specialists, corporate counsel, litigation support specialists, librarians and other legal professionals. Winners were determined based on the most-mentioned product/company in each category. Information on the awards and winners will be featured in the March issue of Law Technology News and on the magazine's Web site at www.lawtechnologynews.com.
